SASKATCHEWAN PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVES

The Courage and the Will

Saskatchewan faces many challenges. But at the same time, we are being given many opportunities. Grant Devine and your Saskatchewan Progressive ability to build upon the opportunities.

A plan is in place. And it's working. We're protecting and stabilizing our economic base, while at the same time, diversifying our economy at an unprecedented rate. We're creating new jobs, new industries, and building new futures.

Our plan is a plan for all Saskatchewan. It's a plan that understands the vital link between rural stability and urban prosperity. It's a plan that understands the people of Saskatchewan, and the unique way of life we enjoy.

Through your support, we can continue to build a future that benefits everyone. We have the courage and will to do what's right for Saskatchewan. Base your choice on the facts, not the fears. It's a choice that only you can make.

DIVERSIFICATION

Diversifying Saskatchewan's economy is an economic priority. As government, we've helped urban centres attract new industries, build new businesses and create thousands of new jobs. And by attracting new business and industry to our urban centres, we've been able to support, strengthen and diversify our rural economy by moving some government departments to rural communities.

The strategy of diversification works:

- Crown Life Insurance Company of Toronto moves its head office to Regina, bringing 1000 positions, an annual payroll of up to $50 million, and the injection of an estimated $100 million in annual expenditures into the Regina economy.

- Promavia jet manufacturing is a $100 million high-tech project, and will create up to 325 new jobs in Saskatoon.

- Federal government decentralization of half of the Farm Credit Corporation from Ottawa to Regina represents 160 to 200 new jobs for the city, with an annual payroll of $9 million.

- Prince Albert's Weyerhaeuser pulp and paper mill has grown to employ 837 people while injecting over $77 million into the economy.

- Heavy oil upgraders are now operating in Regina and Lloydminster.

- SaskOil has expanded and increased company employment by 173%.

- Westbridge has seen company employment increase by 162%.

- Saskatchewan's advanced technology sector has grown to include over 200 firms, 3,500 employees, and annual sales of $750 million.

- The $435 million Saskferco fertilizer plant at Belle Plain will produce Saskatchewan-made nitrogen fertilizer for world markets.

The right decisions can be tough decisions. And tough decisions are not always popular. But they have to be made. Grant Devine and your Progressive Conservative government have shown the courage and the will to make tough decisions. To do what is right for all Saskatchewan.

In this election, it's important for you to vote for something, not just against. And to know what it is you're voting for. Know the facts. Don't allow your vote to be based on fear. Vote for vision and hope. Vote for your future.

The choice you make on election day will determine how Saskatchewan faces the future. How our economy is built. How our way of life is protected and strengthened. It's an important choice. It's a choice only you can make.

HEALTH & EDUCATION

Health and education are our priorities. Grant Devine and your Progressive Conservative government have committed the time, effort, and money needed to make Saskatchewan standards among the best in Canada.

Health

- now rated Number 1 in Canada
- highest hospital beds per capita in the country
- our health care card is now used as a model by governments around the world

Under Grant Devine and your Progressive Conservative government, billions of dollars have been used to build, equip, and staff hospitals, nursing and special-care homes, cancer clinics, and other health care facilities. This year, we will commit nearly $1.6 billion to health care throughout Saskatchewan.

Education

- undertook the first major Kindergarten - Grade 12 education review since 1944
- developed 9 regional colleges
- created the Saskatchewan Institute of Applied Science and Technology (SIAST)
- opened the new agricultural research facility at the University of Saskatchewan
- created the Saskatchewan Communications Network (SCN)
- implemented innovative programs to encourage child reading, adult literacy, and alternative programs to help young people complete high school and plan for their futures

In 1991-92, Grant Devine and your Progressive Conservatives will spend $903.9 million to fund Saskatchewan's education system.

LEADERSHIP & CO-OPERATION

Two recent agreements between the governments of Saskatchewan and Canada are the results of solid provincial leadership and our policy of co-operation in place of confrontation.

Federal-Provincial Agreement On Energy Initiatives

This agreement recognizes Saskatchewan's expertise in energy production and utilization, and gives us the opportunity to become Canada's leader in the development and implementation of advanced energy technology.

This agreement will:

- further develop our industrial sector
- create new spin-off industries
- create high-income employment opportunities
- greatly enhance our research and development capabilities

By the turn of the century, Saskatchewan could be the Canadian leader in the design, manufacture, construction, commissioning and operation of advanced energy technology.

Cost-Sharing Agreement on Treaty Land Entitlements

This historic agreement provides approximately $431 million, over 15 years, to 27 Saskatchewan Indian bands for the purchase of entitlement land. Rural municipalities and school divisions will receive $50 million for any tax revenue lost through the establishment of new reserves, while urban municipalities will be compensated through individual agreements.

COMMUNITY BONDS

Community Bonds are a first for North America. They raise home-grown equity which is used to create new businesses, industries, and jobs. To date, 100 Bond Corporations have been incorporated, with many more on the way. Right now, 44 companies are employing over 600 people in communities across Saskatchewan.
